

Ghostly goings-on at Weddington Nursery

The following account of eerie experiences at the Nursery on Weddington Road were related to Weddington Castle by a local resident on 10th January 2015

My daughter attends nursery on Weddington Road and around Christmas time [2015] some strange things happened. One or two of the nursery nurses told me that they have ghosts in the building. The building itself is modern and was at one point a doctor's surgery [Dr Law].

It is next to the brook (Brook Lane and the Post Office are on the other side of the brook). Looking at the old maps, it appears that the nursery building sits right on the edge of Weddington Castle grounds.

One of the "ghost" stories is as follows: at 7.00am, the nursery nurse was sat in reception. The nursery doesn't open until 7.30am, however, she could hear two children giggling and playing in the doorway a few feet from where she sat. When she checked, there was no one there...

Also, [on another occasion] two children (one being my daughter) suddenly started crying and refusing to enter one of the rooms. My daughter told me the "other children were being naughty". This room was the only room that didn't have any Christmas decorations up, so the nursery nurses decided to put some up - after that both my daughter and the other child were fine about entering the room.
